

SEMITIC MUSEUM
HARVARD UNIVERSITY

SIX DIVINITY AVENUE
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS 02138
TEL: (617) 495-4631
FAX: (617) 496-8904

April 17, 2017

Attention: Jerusalem Visitors:

Any understanding of Jerusalem should begin with exploring the City of David. I was most fortunate in having Dr. Gurevich as my guide, as he provided an exceptional understanding of Jerusalem's earliest history as he guided me through the ancient waterways that allowed this city to survive for centuries, as well as it being conquered.

We visited more recent parts of the Old City, paying particular attention to the evidence of the former entrances to the Temple Mount. David was able to provide background on the structures which are observed today through his research and direct knowledge of the archaeologists who have excavated throughout the city. Accompanying David on a tour will provide you a nuanced understanding to the city's many notable places and an interpretation that is far beyond the narratives you will hear on typical tours.

David's experience of more than a decade of providing visitors with insights and perspectives on the city and its history that cannot be matched. Be sure to plan your visit to Jerusalem to include time touring with David.

Jeff Howry, Ph.D.
Research Associate